Art Unit: 1732

1. Claim 44 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 44 is indefinite in calling for a method for making castings when in fact no steps are recited to actually make the castings—ie, the claim is directed only to treating the mold.

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-30, 38-41, 44 and 45 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-26 of copending Application No. 09/769,014. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not yet been patented.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the referenced copending application and would be covered by any patent granted on that compending application since the referenced compending application and the instant application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: Each application fully discloses the instant mold treating using a release agent which imparts an opposite charge to the oxide coated surface of the mold whereby the release agent is bonded to the oxide surface. While applicant has amended the instant claims in a manner different than that set forth in the compending application, such differences reside essentially only in mechanism of action, since the claimed subject matter is essentially the same.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant would be prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application in the other compending application. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

4. Applicant's arguments filed August 28, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. While the art related arguments are persuasive, newly added claim 44 has a 112 issue and the double patenting rejection remains. Applicant's statement that the instant claims differ from those in compending application 09/769,014 is not sufficient to obviate the double patenting rejection when in fact applicant has merely reworded the instant claims to cover subject matter disclosed and in fact encompassed by the claims of the compending application. In other words, it would appear that applicant has merely reworded the instant claims to cover more concisely the mechanism by which the invention works. While such would remove the statutory type double patenting, it does not eliminate the fact that the instant application and the copending application are each disclosing and setting forth essentially the same invention.
